

AMA Foundation Achievements and Updates

2024 AMA Annual Meeting

As the philanthropic arm of the AMA, your AMA Foundation has a rich legacy of supporting medical students and education, championing physician leadership and nurturing community health collaborations with stakeholders.

Looking ahead, the foundation is committed to sustaining its support in these crucial areas and advancing efforts to convene physicians, industry specialists and community stakeholders to create a larger, meaningful impact on health care. The foundation's goal is to spur innovation, dismantle systemic obstacles and champion equity on a broader national platform.

Your AMA Foundation invites you to learn more about its activities and accomplishments from the past year, which would not be possible without our generous donors.

Through the Physicians of Tomorrow program, the foundation awarded $315,000 in scholarship aid, which helped 36 medical students complete their final year of medical school. The scholarship program offers several scholarship categories and a variety of focus areas, many of which support underrepresented students.

2023–24 Leadership Development Institute students

Enrolled 11 final-year medical students into the Leadership Development Institute. The institute offers the skills and insights needed to foster their future careers as physician leaders. Students are mentored by a member of the AMA House of Delegates, and they are here attending the annual meeting to shadow them.

AMA Foundation National LGBTQ+ Fellows attend a convening meeting in New York City

Convened institutions, fellows, physicians and other health professionals at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mt. Sinai. In collaboration with Harvard Medical School-Fenway Health, Mt. Sinai, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, and Vanderbilt University Medical Center, the AMA Foundation fellowship aims to reshape the future of LGBTQ+ health care.

Release the Pressure family portraits series

Thousands of individuals received support and education in monitoring their blood pressure while also learning about hypertension through the Release the Pressure campaign. The program, which received more than $1,000,000 in funding from the AMA Foundation over the last four years, raises awareness about heart health among Black women.
