CAMPAIGN PILLARS

Health Equity and the Arc toward Reconciliation & Justice

- Being a proactive voice on issues of injustice and inequities
- Actively work with the Board to address barriers affecting our patients, colleagues, and the future of medicine

Protecting the (Future) Physician Workforce

- Investing in trainee protections spanning licensure, scope of practice, and support during program closure
- Including critical trainee and early career perspectives on existing Strategic Plan Initiatives

Empowering Future Leaders in Medicine & Public Health

- Investing in leadership and mentorship opportunities so that our leaders reflect the House of Medicine and our communities
- Empowering members to become leaders in their communities, states, and professional societies

Friends and fellow advocates,

My name is Pauline Huynh, and I am humbled to announce my candidacy to serve as your next Resident/Fellow Trustee.

As someone who was originally skeptical about joining the AMA, I owe my 7 years of involvement to passionate individuals like yourselves who drive our organization to be better and do better—to acknowledge our checkered past and the harms we've caused; invest in our profession and its future; and drive health policy changes that protect our patients, colleagues, and communities.

Having served in multiple leadership positions, I have the experiences and skills to advocate not only for a more compassionate, equitable, and just AMA, but one that also empowers our members as leaders in medicine and public health. As a former AMA Councilor, MSS Section Delegate, and your RFS Chair, I am intimately familiar with our Board's relationship with the rest of the AMA. I have navigated challenging conversations with AMA leaders to advocate for the unique representation considerations of trainees, call our Board to address anti-DEI legislation, and support trainees displaced by program closures.

I ask for your support because I fully believe in our ability to push our organization, communities, and profession in a better direction. As your Trustee, I pledge to tenaciously represent the nuanced trainee perspective—as learners and full physicians—in Board discussions, maintain bidirectional communication with our members, and draw upon my broad network and experiences to effectively translate our House policies into reality.

Learning from you always,

Pauline Huynh, MD
